Statement

International Partners Must End all Cooperation with the Myanmar National Human Rights Commission

11 March 2021

On 11 February 2021, the CSO Working Group on MNHRC Reform (Working Group)\(^1\) called on the Myanmar National Human Rights Commission (MNHRC) to denounce the military coup and stand with the people of Myanmar. It has failed to do so. We therefore believe that the MNHRC is an ally of the military regime, not a human rights institution. We, the Working Group and 56 local and regional CSOs and networks, call for the suspension of the MNHRC from regional and global platforms of national human rights institutions, and the end to any cooperation from its international partners.

Since our initial demand that the MNHRC denounce the coup, the use of violence by the military regime has escalated and the use of lethal force by the police and the military is becoming a daily occurrence. Over 60 people have died at the hands of live fire in cities across Myanmar. Water cannons, rubber bullets and beatings are inflicted on peaceful demonstrations, injuring hundreds and thousands of people have been arbitrarily arrested, charged and sentenced. Light Infantry Divisions 33 and 77 - battle-hardened shock troops regularly involved in the most brutal violence in ethnic areas – have been deployed in urban areas. Paid, pro-regime counter protesters have been instigating violence against peaceful protesters, including stabbings. Thousands of people have been released from prison, sent to urban neighborhoods at night-time to create havoc and instill fear. Hundreds more people have been arrested throughout the country as night-time raids led by the police, and backed up by soldiers, are conducted while a curfew is imposed on the people’s movement. As of 10 March, 2,008 people have been arrested, charged or sentenced since the beginning of the coup according to the Assistance Association for Political Prisoners.

The internet is cut out each night, cutting people off from the outside world, fearing what will come next. A proposed Cyber Security Law will compel telecommunications companies to intercept correspondence. Amendments to the Penal Code, such as potential 20-year sentences for obstructing the military’s duties, have been passed. Amendments to the Ward or Village Tract Administration Law have brought back the requirement for households to report all overnight guests while amendments to the Privacy Law means the authorities can enter and search any private property, and arrest people, without a warrant. This legislation harks back to the worst days of military rule while, the violence, intimidation and repression is only increasing.

Yet despite all this, a month since the coup, the MNHRC has remained silent. The people are on the streets every day, putting their lives at risk for a better future that in which they can enjoy their fundamental rights and the MNHRC has not done anything to condemn the coup, nor the violence inflicted on peaceful

\(^1\) The MNHRC Working Group consists of 22 diverse Myanmar civil society organizations that works to advocate for the reform of the MNHRC so it is an effective, independent, and transparent NHRI that promotes and protects the rights of all people of Myanmar in line with the Paris Principles – the international standards for NHRI.

demonstrators. This is beyond the need for technical assistance or the lack of capacity. According to the General Observations of the Global Alliance of National Human Rights Institutions (GANHRI) Sub-Committee on Accreditation (SCA), which are to guide NHRI s in their compliance with the international standards for NHRI s – the Paris Principles, an NHRI in a time of emergency or coup, must “continue to conduct itself with a heightened level of vigilance and independence in the exercise of its mandate.” Remaining silent in this time of emergency represents not just a failure in upholding its most basic responsibilities, but as a willing accomplice to the military regime. Therefore, we do not view the MNHRC as a legitimate NHRI. Rather it is an institution that is a part of the military regime.

Therefore, international governments and their respective NHRI s must not recognize in any form the MNHRC as a legitimate NHRI, and cut all engagement and cooperation. Other international partners of the MNHRC, such as funding agencies, UN bodies and regional organizations must end all cooperation, funding, and assistance they provide to the MNHRC. Furthermore, the regional and international bodies of NHRI s that the MNHRC is a member or participates in – specifically the Global Alliance of National Human Rights Institutions (GANHRI), the Asia Pacific Forum of National Human Rights Institutions (APF) and the Southeast Asia National Human Rights Institutions Forum (SEANF) – must suspend the MNHRC from any form of membership.
