Bottlenecks and Challenges Encountered

The main challenges faced during the humanitarian provision include fund flow, limited manpower, and reduction of donation due to the concentration on the people's defensive war. What's more, the conventional way of policies and practices of the UN and INGOs has hindered the fund contribution to be spent on humanitarian work.

Way Forward

The Ministry of Humanitarian Affairs and Disaster Management has envisioned to proceed with its humanitarian interventions as per the policies and guidelines laid down. Furthermore, it will be conducting damage and needs assessment, and developing the strategic plan for the rehabilitation and reconstruction of the affected villages and communities. At the same time, efforts will also be made in building alliances with the ethnic organisations to further strengthen alliance and partnership in many other aspects. The Ministry will also seek to extend collaboration with UN and International organisations. Besides, it has been engaging with the Joint Coordination Committee on Humanitarian Assistance which can help enhance the humanitarian countermeasures done by National Unity Consultative Committee (NUCC) and National Unity Government (NUG). Arrangements are underway to get easy access for the international community and private donors to donate on the Ministry's Website.
